Quarterly Report

June 30, 2025

To our Limited Partners:

Enclosed please find our second quarter reporting package. As always, we welcome your feedback as well as the opportunity to answer any questions that you may have.

Valuation Policy

We continue to primarily use valuation modeling tools such as Option Pricing Models (based upon past private financing terms) and revenue multiple models (which use public market comps). However, since 2021 when many of our companies raised significant rounds, there have been significantly fewer financing rounds available for OPM modeling, and we need to rely more upon judgment and forecasts from the companies and detailed conversation with our investment professionals and board members. That said, all of these methods are imperfect and result in only unrealized valuation estimates. We therefore encourage you to focus on our realizations and distributions rather than any interim unrealized valuations.

Other Updates

We continue to look for interesting ways to engage and strengthen relationships with the current and potential future entrepreneurial community and across the broader technology ecosystem. To stay abreast of these and other activities, thought leadership pieces, news, and upcoming events, please visit our News and Insights page, our website, or follow us on X. If you haven't already subscribed for the Accel Family newsletter that includes updates on all things Accel, please subscribe here.

Please feel free to contact us for additional information or questions on your investments and, for anything related to the current status of Accel funds, please contact Jess Segal.

Thank you again for your continued support.
